Ronnie Hughes: Strange Attractors

29th June – 27th August 2017

Touring exhibition by Irish artist Ronnie Hughes, one of Ireland's most dynamic abstract painters, Hughes's elegant and poised works are executed with complex technical skill, yet retain a lightness of touch. While his finished paintings display a diversity of styles, at heart they share common concern with the lived experienced, and what Hughes has described as "the beauty, the fragility and the violence of being."

The exhibition was organised and toured by The Model, home of The Niland Collection, Sligo and after its exhibit at Limerick City Gallery of Art will tour to the Royal Hibernian Academy, Dublin.

The exhibition will be accompanied by a full-colour publication.

The project has been generously supported through the Arts Council Touring and Dissemination of Work Scheme.
